Sketchy Little OLD NEW YORK By Off-mintre

NEW YORK, Sept. 9.—A dancing floor that revolves is the latest innovation in tango circles. It is being constructed at Murray's and should prove a handy aid to the temperance movement.

It is admitted by those who have invested heavily in the dance halls that something must be done to keep the trotteries interested this winter or the dance craze will disappear like a mist. Strategy is needed.

The trotteries suffered a severe blow when the public learned that a crowd of rich parasites loitered in them to ensnare young girls. The expose was made when Eugene Kelly, who is soon to inherit one million lovely dollars, was arrested as incorrigible by her mother's order.

Al Davis, a wrist watch wearing tango fiend, was the man in the case. Broadway has heard that despite the arrest Davis and the girl are to be married soon.

Thodore P. Shonts and August Belmont, with their bales of kale, were quite unable to have a coroner removed from office in New York. They ran up against a stumbling block in Governor Whitman.

Coroner Riordan accused the elevated railroad of culpable negligence in connection with an "L" accident that cost two lives. Shonts and Belmont are the big stockholders in the company.

The company's counsel in court declared: "Coroner Riordan, I'll drive you out of office. I am pointing my finger at you to hold you up to disgrace. You will hear from this."

The governor dismissed the charges of misconduct in office thus revealed that justice is not always asleep even if she naps now and then.

Roy McCardell has discovered the greatest strategist in the world in New Rochelle. This fellow got his salary raised a year ago and his wife hasn't found it out yet.

Paul Armstrong, who passed on last week while driving in Central Park, is an example of the opportunity for the writing man in New York. He made a fortune in a few short years, yet he was practically unknown when he came to town.

Armstrong had a varied career. Dramatist, steamboat captain, sport writer, friend of crooks, exile from Broadway, defendant in a suit for plagiarism—these were a few of the roles he played in his forty-six years of life, which began in Kidder, Mo. and ranged from Michigan to Paris.

He was a well known Broadway figure. He always wore a large felt hat on the right side of his head and had a goatee. He delighted in writing of the underworld as was shown in "The Deep Purple," "A Romance of the Underworld" and "The Greyhound."

He once secured the consent of a judge to free a burglar in Sing Sing, so he could study him. The burglar was given a minor part in one of his plays at $14 a week. Other members of the cast knew nothing about it until the burglar was arrested for smashing a window in a Broadway store and stealing some jewelry.

Arthur Guiterman, the poet, is visiting in San Francisco. He postcards a travelogue to a friend in New York that he has been spending a quiet evening about Frisco with a Native Son and can understand now why San Franciscans come to New York. They come for a rest.

Speaking of superstitions a man writes to the Tribune that whenever anyone mentions the United States army, Secretary Garrison raps wood.

Montgomery and Stone are on their second year in "Chin Chin" at the Globe and the "S. R. O." sign is up each night.

BRIDGEPORT

BRIDGEPORT, Sept. 9.—Mrs. Harlor Stout and Mrs. Roy Peshak proved very pleasant hostesses to the Ladies Aid Society of the Methodist Episcopal church at the home of Mrs. Stout Wednesday afternoon. Mrs. Fitzhugh was assisted in the devotionals by Mrs. A. J. L. Curtis, of Reedsville. During the regular business session it was decided to hold a bazaar Saturday, December 11.

One of the most pleasant features of the meeting was having Mrs. Curtis, who is the wife of a former pastor present. She gave a very interesting talk. During the social hour a delicious salad course was served by the hostess.

Those who enjoyed the afternoon were Mrs. C. W. Post, Mrs. Mary Sandusky, Mrs. John Moore, Mrs. H. L. Dean, Mrs. R. P. Saurborne, Mrs. C. R. Lark, Mrs. F. B. White, Mrs. D. H. Gawthrop, Mrs. Elizabeth Golden, Mrs. Marie Bartlett, Mrs. B. S. Hamrick, Mrs. N. L. Fitzhugh, Mrs. B. H. Martin, Mrs. L. T. Silcott, Mrs. J. R. Jones, Mrs. Harlor Stout, Mrs. Jesse Silcott, Mrs. Lee Stout, Mrs. George Camp, and Misses Ella Benedum, Lena Fitzhugh and Nan Pell and Mrs. A. J. L. Curtis, of Reedsville.

SALEM

SALEM, Sept. 9.—Mrs. Loverna Gaines and two daughters, Misses Myrtle and Fannie, started on a month's visit Wednesday that will be spent at Parkersburg, Spencer and from there they will go to Pittsburg, where they will spend part of the time.

Lucian Hoge, of Clarksburg, was a prominent business visitor here Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. A. G. Davis, of Clarksburg, have been guests of Mrs. Davis's parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Cottrill.

Father McGwiggan, of Clarksburg, was here Wednesday in company with the resident priest, the Rev. Father Paul D. Othling, who has been located here to have permanent charge of the Catholic interest of this city. The Rev. Mr. Othling is a young man, originally from Cincinnati, and we bespeak for him a successful pastorate upon this field that appears to be a promising one. The Catholic congregation has just recently purchased the old Baptist church house and parsonage, that is centrally located, and the old building will be remodeled and furnished and regular services established.

Miss Cora Sanford, of Waverly, N. Y., has accepted a position with Miss A. H. Payne at the Bon Ton store as head clerk, and assumed her duties early this week.

Mrs. S. L. White and daughter, of Clarksburg, are guests of friends here this week.

Mrs. John T. Williams and daughter, Miss Lulu, have returned to Butler, Pa., after spending the summer here.

Mrs. Gay Freeman, of Westerville, O., and daughter, Miss May, have been on a brief sojourn to their former home at Big Isaac, and visited friends here Wednesday, and went from here to Clarksburg.

Mrs. M. W. Haney, of Philadelphia, is a guest of Mrs. C. A. Schutte of Fairview street. Mrs. Haney has been visiting Mrs. E. E. Haney, of Bristol, for several days.

Tuesday night was known as "Masonic Night" at the Bromley Tabernacle. This order together with its auxiliary organization, the Eastern Star, attended in a body, accompanied by the local band. Although the weather was threatening there was a large crowd present. A fitting floral tribute was presented by the orders to Dr. and Mrs. Bromley, the Rev. Dr. Wootter making the presentation, and Dr. Bromley feelingly responding. Friday night will be a special night again and the high school will attend in a body.

Biliousness and Constipation.
It is certainly surprising that any woman will endure the miserable feelings caused by biliousness and constipation, when relief is so easily had and at so little expense. Mrs. Chas. Peck, Gates, N. Y., writes: "About a year ago I used two bottles of Chamberlain's Tablets and they cured me of biliousness and constipation." Obtainable everywhere.—Advertisement.

NIGHT SCHOOL

Commences Mon. Sept. 13 '15

One can hardly estimate the benefit to be derived from taking advantage of a good night school. It should be remembered that some of our greatest statesmen acquired most of their education by studying evenings, being obliged to work during the day. Many an enterprising young man passing his days in some humble vocation to earn his living has utilized his spare evening hours to fit himself by study for higher things and better pay and thus has been enabled to command a success that was impossible through any other plan.

Night school work is pleasant and profitable. The change of work from that in which students pass the day is absolute and it really rests instead of tiring. The advantage gained and practical knowledge acquired by industrious students in a winter season is so great that in many cases the wages in a single month give them more than they pay for a full session's tuition. The instruction is entirely individual. Instruction in the following subjects may be had: Bookkeeping, Shortland, Typewriting, English, Correspondence, Telephone or write for more details, Penmanship, Spelling.
